“ Sharon and Morgan - I know of no other couple that need scripture quoted to them in such a time as this. Your entire lives have been devoted to the Lord and His Word, and you both know where Tony lives now. I will only say that no one can possibly understand your heartbreak unless they too have lost a child before their time. As you know, I also have two sons very close in age as Tony and Travis were, and my greatest fear always is that they might precede me in death. We are put here for only two reasons - to learn to love our Lord with all our hearts, and to see to the next generation of God fearing souls. That's it. Now half your reason for even being alive here has been taken away. But that makes the first reason that much more important. I truly hope I never have to endure what you have. I have not stopped thinking about Tony and Travis and the both of you since I first heard, and I cry inside every time I think about it. I shall never forget.
